

HOW DO PEOPLE LEARN LANGUAGES?

Odiljonova Gulnoza Mirzohidjon qizi

4 year student TSPU named after Nizami

Scientific supervisor: O'tkir Muradov

Abstract: In this article we'll explore three major factors that make language learning difficult - and give you six tips to make it that much easier; to put a little spring in your language learning step!

Keywords: Language, difficulties, learning, English, learning steps, useful apps, knowledge, experiences.

By learning a foreign language, you can easily understand ideas and thoughts that may be different from your own culture. You can learn customs and how people interact in a given society. Language helps preserve cultures, but it also allows us to learn about others and spread ideas quickly. The importance of language in business is unmatched. Without language here, we can't share ideas and grow them into something more. Whether this means learning a foreign language so you can share ideas with people who come from a different country, or simple learning how to use language to master in interview, demand presence in a room, or network with others, language is vital. There are many reasons why we need to learn a foreign language. To communicate with people from other cultures. When you learn a foreign language, you gain access to a whole new world of people and cultures. You can communicate with them directly, without having to rely on a translator. This can help you to learn about their culture and way of life, and to build relationships with them. To improve your job prospects. In today's globalized economy, many employers are looking for employees who can speak multiple languages. If you can speak a foreign language, you will be more competitive in the job market. To travel more easily. If you can speak the language of the country you are visiting, you will be able to get around more easily and have a more enjoyable trip. You will also be able to connect with the locals on a deeper level. To learn about yourself. When you learn a foreign language, you are also learning about yourself. You are learning how to think in a different way, and you are expanding your horizons. This can be a very rewarding experience. To keep your brain healthy. Studies have shown that learning a foreign language can help to keep your brain healthy and reduce your risk of developing dementia. To have fun! Learning a foreign language can be a lot of fun. It is a great way to challenge yourself and to learn new things. It can also be a lot of fun to practice your new language skills with native speakers

There are many ways to learn English. Some people take classes, while others use online resources or apps. Some people learn by watching movies or TV shows, while others prefer to read books or articles. There is no one right way to learn English, and the best method for you will depend on your individual learning style and preferences. If you are interested in taking classes, there are many options available. You can take classes at a local community college, university, or adult education center. You can also find online classes that you can take at your own pace. If you prefer to learn on your own, there are many resources available online. You can find websites that offer interactive exercises, games, and quizzes. You can also find apps that can help you learn vocabulary and grammar. If you enjoy watching movies or TV shows, you can use them to learn English. Pay attention to the way the characters speak and try to imitate their pronunciation. You can also look up words that you don't know in a dictionary. If you prefer to read, you can find books and articles written in English. As you read, pay attention to the grammar and vocabulary. You can also look up words that you don't know in a dictionary. No matter which method you choose, the most important thing is to be consistent with your studies. The more you practice, the better you will become at speaking and understanding English.

Here are some additional tips for learning English:

- * Immerse yourself in the language as much as possible. Watch English-language movies and TV shows, listen to English music, and read English books and articles.

- * Practice speaking English with native speakers or other learners.

- * Don't be afraid to make mistakes. Everyone makes mistakes when they are learning a new language.

- * Be patient and don't give up. Learning a new language takes time and effort

Here are the three major factors that make language learning difficult:

1. Time. Learning a new language takes time and effort. There is no quick fix. You need to be patient and consistent with your studies.

2. Motivation. It is important to be motivated to learn a new language. If you are not interested in the language, it will be difficult to stick with your studies.

3. Memory. Learning a new language requires you to remember a lot of new vocabulary and grammar rules. This can be challenging, especially if you are not a natural language learner.

Here are six tips to make language learning easier:

1. Set realistic goals. Do not try to learn everything at once. Start with small goals and gradually increase the difficulty as you progress.

2. Find a learning method that works for you. There are many different ways to learn a new language. Find a method that you enjoy and that fits your learning style.

3. Make language learning a part of your daily routine. The more you practice, the better you will become. Try to set aside some time each day to study your new language.

4. Immerse yourself in the language. One of the best ways to learn a new language is to immerse yourself in it. This means surrounding yourself with the language as much as possible. You can do this by watching movies and TV shows in the language, listening to music, and reading books and articles.

5. Don't be afraid to make mistakes. Everyone makes mistakes when they are learning a new language. Do not let this discourage you. Mistakes are a natural part of the learning process.

6. Have fun. Learning a new language should be enjoyable. If you are not having fun, you are less likely to stick with it. Find ways to make language learning fun for you. I hope these tips help you on your language learning journey

There are many useful websites and apps that people can use to learn languages. Here are a few of the most popular ones:

* Duolingo: Duolingo is a free app and website that offers courses in over 30 languages. It uses a gamified approach to language learning, which makes it fun and engaging for users.

* Babbel: Babbel is a paid app that offers courses in 14 languages. It focuses on real-world conversations and uses a variety of interactive exercises to help users learn.

* Rosetta Stone: Rosetta Stone is a paid app and software that offers courses in 24 languages. It uses an immersion-based approach to language learning, which means that users are exposed to the language in a natural way.

* Memrise: Memrise is a free app and website that uses a spaced repetition system to help users learn vocabulary. It also offers courses in a variety of languages.

* Busuu: Busuu is a free app and website that offers courses in 12 languages. It focuses on social learning, which means that users can practice their language skills with native speakers.

* Mango Languages: Mango Languages is a paid app and website that offers courses in 70 languages. It focuses on cultural immersion, which means that users learn about the culture of the language they are learning as well as the language itself.

* Pimsleur: Pimsleur is a paid app and software that offers courses in 50 languages. It uses an audio-based approach to language learning, which means that users learn through listening to native speakers.

* FluentU: FluentU is a paid app and website that offers a variety of videos in different languages. Users can watch the videos with subtitles and interactive transcripts.

* italki: italki is a website that connects users with native speakers for language lessons. Users can choose to have one-on-one lessons or join group classes.

* HiNative: HiNative is a website and app where users can ask questions about any language. Native speakers can answer questions about grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation.

* Tandem: Tandem is a language exchange app that connects users with native speakers of the language they are learning. Users can practice their language skills by chatting with native speakers. These are just a few of the many websites and apps that people can use to learn languages. The best way to find the right one for you is to try out a few different ones and see which one you like the best.

There are many useful destinations for people who want to learn languages. Here are a few examples:

* Immersion programs: These programs allow you to live in a country where the language you want to learn is spoken. This is a great way to immerse yourself in the language and culture, and you'll likely make some great friends along the way.

* Language schools: Language schools offer a structured and immersive learning environment. They can be a great option if you want to learn a language quickly and effectively.

* Online courses: There are many online courses available that can teach you a new language. This can be a convenient option if you have a busy schedule or if you want to learn at your own pace.

* Apps: There are many language learning apps available that can help you learn a new language on the go. This can be a great option if you want to practice your language skills while you're waiting in line or commuting to work.

* Language exchange partners: A language exchange partner is someone who is fluent in the language you want to learn and is willing to help you practice in exchange for you helping them practice your native language. This can be a great way to learn a language in a fun and interactive way.

* Travel: If you have the opportunity, traveling to a country where the language you want to learn is spoken can be a great way to improve your skills. You'll be surrounded by the language and culture, and you'll have the chance to practice with native speakers. No matter which method you choose, the most important thing is to be consistent with your studies and to practice regularly. With a little effort, you'll be speaking a new language in no time.

Overall, learning new language undoubtedly helps your gray matter grow. Acquiring a new language means that you're going to learn a whole new set of rules of grammar and lexis (Whether you find this part amusing or not). While your brain is trying to keep up with the new language's complexities and take in the new patterns, new developments are happening in the brain. Just like muscles, the brain gets stronger and bigger the more you put it to use. Nothing challenges the brain like learning a language does. Scientists have established that we use the left side of the brain when speaking our native language. Whereas, second language usage isn't limited to a specific hemisphere. It uses both of them, increasing the size of the white and grey matter of the brain.

REFERENCES:

1. How To Learn Any Language Barry Farber
2. How To Learn Foreign Language Paul Pimpsleur
3. How To Learn A Foreign Language Aurelia Mcneil
4. How Do We Learn Languages? The Ultimate Guide to Language Acquisition ...
<https://www.fluentu.com/blog/how-do-we-learn-language/>
5. 10 Best Ways to Learn a New Language | GoAbroad.com
<https://www.goabroad.com/articles/language-study-abroad/10-best-ways-to-learn-a-new-language>
6. Secrets of learning a language – quickly - BBC
<https://www.bbc.com/worklife/article/20150302-secrets-to-learning-a-language>
7. How to learn a language (and stick at it) | Psyche Guides
<https://psyche.co/guides/how-to-approach-the-lifelong-project-of-language-learning>